The ISA Journal

The ISA Journal is the only publication to reach individual Heads and senior leaders across the entire membership of the Independent Schools Association, which is now a family of over 660 schools.

The independent education sector has a considerable annual purchasing spend for services and equipment associated with providing the very highest stands of education.

The ISA Journal is published termly, timed to land on desks in the opening weeks of each term. This is considered to be the perfect time to reach key decision makers.

Content is driven by our audience, inspiring, motivating and encouraging best practice; all designed to maintain the excellence and innovation within independent education. Over 2,200 issues of the Journal are printed and distributed to over 640 member organisations every term.

For editorial and advertising enquiries, please contact Joseph Tomkins, Media and Communications Officer, at comms@isaschools.org.uk
